

“Fear was the only feeling I had. I could see no alternative to my abusive relationship ... and it was only with the help at Christine Ann that I recognized how he had controlled me. With the gentle, affirmative support I received, I began to see myself as capable, likable and valuable.”

With your donation in 2015 Christine Ann provided the following:

- Safe and supportive shelter living for approximately 300 survivors & their children
- Outreach services to approximately 1000 survivors
- Educational presentations to over 1300 community members
- Healthy relationship, bullying and similar educational, prevention presentations to 8000 grade school children & teens in 8 school districts

Collectively Christine Ann Domestic Abuse Services and you continue to reach up and reach out, lifting our community by extending our outreach and services. Will you please donate today, to help us sustain the services we offer and further spread and strengthen our roots in our community, as we work diligently to end domestic and dating violence?

Your gift not only allows us to continue our outreach efforts and maintain a safe shelter, but offer survivors the tools they need to rebuild their lives. Living in shelter is just one step of some survivors' journeys to leaving and breaking the cycle of domestic violence. Many of Christine Ann's survivors will never reside in shelter, but nearly all of our survivors face similar, unanticipated barriers such as transportation, education, changing the locks on their homes, or obtaining their birth certificate or Social Security # after fleeing their abuser. These barriers stand between them and self-sufficiency. Overcoming even one of these barriers brings survivors and their families closer to escaping their abusers and provides hope that they can leave the cycle of domestic violence.
